Personalized Healthcare - a Sustainability Solution?

Date: Wednesday, November 30, 2011

Time: 7:00 a.m. - 8:00 a.m. Registration & Breakfast
8:00 a.m. - 9:00 a.m. Presentation

Place: The Fairmont Waterfront Hotel - Malaspina Room
900 Canada Way Place, Vancouver

Speaker: Dr. Bruce McManus, MD, PhD, FRSC, FCAHS

The capacity to make care more particular and specific to each person at risk of illness or already suffering now holds more apparent promise than ever before. Please join Dr. McManus as he explains how research is closing the gap to provide the best care for each patient according to their unique needs.

Bruce McManus is Professor, Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine, at the University of British Columbia. He serves as Director of the UBC James Hogg Research Centre at St. Paul's Hospital, as Co-Director of the Institute for Heart + Lung Health, and as Director of the NCE CECR Centre of Excellence for Prevention of Organ Failure (PROOF Centre). Dr. McManus served as the inaugural Scientific Director of the Institute of Circulatory and Respiratory Health, Canadian Institutes of Health Research, from December 2000 until April 2006.

Dr. McManus' basic and clinical investigative program is focused on mechanisms, consequences, detection and prevention of injury and aberrant repair involved in inflammatory diseases of the heart and blood vessels, with particular emphasis on enteroviral infections of the heart and transplant vascular disease.
