

Genes, Machines & Stem Cells

A free public forum on the latest in organ transplantation

6:00-8:30 PM, November 30, 2011

Paetzold Auditorium at Vancouver General Hospital

6:00 PM Reception

6:30 PM Welcome and Introduction – Pamela Scott, Executive Director, TRF

Screening of the short video “Collateral Advantage: Innovations made in pursuit of transplantation have benefited other areas of medicine”

6:50 PM A Patient’s Perspective – Amanda Poch, a liver transplant recipient

7:00 PM Genes, Machines and Stem Cells

Bruce McManus, MD, PhD, UBC, Providence Health Care Research Institute –
Customized care from a simple blood test

Alice Mui, PhD, UBC, VCH Research Institute – Replacing organ function with mini machines

Christopher Ong, PhD, UBC, VCH Research Institute – Creating new tissue and organs from stem cells

8:00 PM Q&A and DOOR PRIZE – Win a pair of Vancouver Canucks tickets!

Registration is required. Click here: <http://www.trfbc.org/publicforum> The forum will be webcast live at <http://tinyurl.com/TRFpublicforum>

¹Enter at VGH Main Entrance (899 W 12th Ave), walk past the information desk and follow the signs
Presented in association with UBC and the CIHR Training Program in Transplantation. Support Genome BC and StemCell Technologies are gratefully acknowledged.

